Humpty's Town

Alongside the learning experiences offered to our Pre-School children daily, we have a whole Humpty's Town dedicated to developing imaginative play through role-play experiences linked to occupations, the children start their journey through exploring the boutique offering a wealth of dressing-up experiences with different accessories and props where they can prepare themselves for the role they which to take up in their play, then can then move on through to explore different purposely designed role play zones, through visiting the medical centre, by going to the doctors, dentist or opticians, filling up with petrol as they ride around the roadway, shopping or visiting the post office, eating out at the food hall or taking their poorly pet to the vets. Each of these zones contain further books to support their understanding, mark-making resources to allow the children to make meaningful marks linked to the occupation they are exploring and the opportunity to take on a wealth of roles.
